CONSULO

Solutions Tailored to Your Needs

We have founded our company in 2007 with the aim of preserving the accumulated professional expertise after the termination of a former industrial company. This way we can share our experience and knowledge with our partners and can offer them business solutions tailored to their own profiles.

Our experts have worked in large corporations for years in the fields of finances, controlling, IT, sales, and logistics. In the course of our work, we have faced challenges that motivated us to constantly come up with new ideas in the competitive environment and by always using high-quality tools we have managed to become leaders in the application of administrative, informational, and computer technologies.

We have identified the business applications that satisfy current needs and demands while they are also future-oriented and can help our partners achieve their business objectives on the long run as well. We have established partnerships with which we can implement complex business, IT, and office applications and can keep up with the development of available technologies. The selected tools and the expertise and reliability inherent in our company guarantee that we provide up-to-date and cutting edge solutions.

I am proud to work with colleagues who are highly qualified professionals, who are devoted to their job and can increase customer satisfaction with their professional work. It is our philosophy that we cannot operate on the long-term without satisfied customers and thus the appropriate support has to be provided in a reliable manner at all times.

Enterprise Resource Planning System

We offer this system primarily for those small, medium and large businesses that intend to make their companies and the work of different departments more transparent and wish to offer better services, thus increasing their customer's loyalty.

The different modules cover the fields of production, logistics, inventory management, sales and commerce, procurement, repair services and financial accounting. These provide managers with complex information that significantly reduce financial risks and time needed for decision-making and they also make planning easier and facilitate controlling. The system is also available as a cloud service, thus, it is possible to access it from several sites by users with equal rights, by colleagues with mobile devices or those working from a distant location.

Based on the several decade long experience of our colleagues, we offer the Microsoft Dynamics NAV integrated enterprise resource planning software supported by us. The introduction of the system generates significant changes in business administration that increase operational efficiency and competitiveness.

- Simple business administration
- Transparent processes
- Increased efficiency
- Fast implementation
- Decreasing costs
- Reliable support

- Representation at NAV, ONYF, OEP and the local government

Integrated Cloud Services

In today's transformed business environment it is just natural that managers want to deal with business processes and not the service systems and software. We wish to support this responsible work with all those services you might need during your daily work.

Our goal is to always provide added value besides the basic accounting service with which our clients can rise above their competitors and can realize an extra benefit also bringing profit for the company.

Based on the several-decade-long experience of our colleagues, we offer the Microsoft Dynamics NAV integrated enterprise resource planning software supported by us. The introduction of the system generates significant changes in business administration that increase operational efficiency and competitiveness.

We design our activities to provide the most complex solutions possible for your company's accounting and financial tasks to allow you to focus on professional and management duties only.

You can contact us with your questions and requests both in person and via the Internet and you can also send us your documents, receipts and invoices the same way.

We perform our work with liability insurance.

Document management and archiving

We undertake to professionally process, organize and store the documents of business organizations, public bodies, local government authorities and their institutions, as well as companies under liquidation in harmony with the relevant archiving and accounting rules and regulations, the connected executive orders and ministry decrees. During the organization of documents, filing, we follow the guidelines and recommendations issued by the National Archives of Hungary and the stipulations regarding data protection and the protection of personality rights. We guarantee the strict protection of trade secrets and data. We perform our work with liability insurance.

Management Information System

Business Intelligence (BI) solutions include applications that provide decision-makers of the company with fast, clear-cut, and reliable information from the data accumulated in their base system at any time and in any form.

Business Intelligence systems facilitate the quick identification of trends and problems and thus they support effective decision-making and allow fast responses to market demands.

We offer Jet Reports, which is an integrated and real-time reporting system for Excel users recommended by us for the Microsoft Dynamics NAV system. With its help you can consolidate business information available in different companies and different data sources.

You can run pre-set quick reports, send scheduled completed reports, while, of course ad-hoc analyses are also easy to perform for controllers, experienced users of Excel.

Customer Relationship Management System

In today's business environment one of the key factors is long-term and well-established customer relationship management. Modern relationship management creates a basis for your company's "short and long term memory" regarding cooperation with the client, this way making the institutionalization of customer focus possible, thus increasing customer satisfaction.

Our CRM solutions can improve the efficiency of your company in the fields of sales, marketing, project management and customer service as well and thus can deepen your relationships.

The solution supported by us organizes events connected to your current and potential partners and the activities of colleagues in contact with them. It supports work with its unique automatisms.

The events and documents that can be attached to the work processes make the activities more transparent.

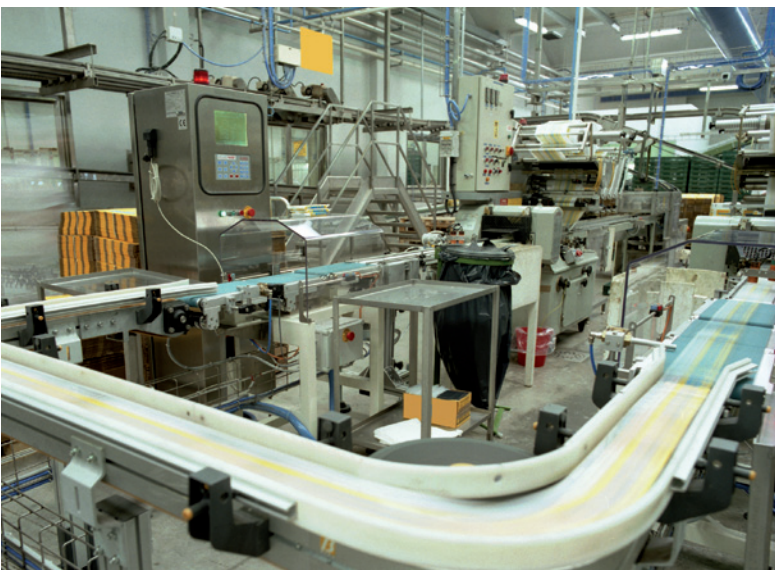

Access to data is made even easier by the fact that information can be accessed with a browser and mobile device as well.

CAS genesisWorld CRM provides a perfect foundation for the company's customer oriented strategy. Central data management makes the necessary information and documents available to all employees – depending on eligibility. This way your colleagues are always well-informed, can give relevant advice and can make well-founded decisions.

The 21st century provides new opportunities for the online use of integrated services without significant investment costs for your company. The Cloud-based service of Consulo Kft. built on the use of intelligent tools makes it possible for your company to use the products and services supported by us also in the form of monthly rental.
